"Participants will explore the word and witness of the Book of Mormon through the lens of a nineteenth-century reading of the text. Readers will be drawn into historical and literary forms which will assist in interpreting the Book of Mormon. Participants will be invited into a conversation with the text itself, using historical-critical and literary-critical tools to encounter the text, while developing an interpretive strategy for understanding the significance of the Book of Mormon for its early nineteenth-century audience. Understanding the message of the text will be paramount as will be the ways in which the text can potentially contribute to the spiritual formation of the reader who encounters the message of the text."
